

Bosch establishes Telehealth at headoffice

Since 1st December Bosch Healthcare has been established at its head office in Denham. Robert Bosch Healthcare is a fully-owned subsidiary of the Robert Bosch GmbH, Germany, providing innovative telehealth solutions. The product spectrum ranges from patient terminals, through fast and secure transmission of health data (vital signs), to comprehensive evaluation software for healthcare professionals.

Bosch Telehealth Plus system connects patients and care providers on a regular basis allowing for individual patient care. Current and historic conditions of chronic illness patients are communicated through this process and positive behaviours can be reinforced to help ensure healthier and happier patients. At the same time the regular patient assessment helps to avoid unnecessary costs that would have been associated with Accident and Emergency (A&E) or hospital treatment.

Peter Fouquet went to Chester to meet Andy Burnham, Secretary of State for Health and Chester MP Christine Russell in June to take forward discussions on the Green Paper, Shaping the Future of Care Together. Mrs Russell said 'For the first time ever there were more people over the age of sixty six than under sixteen and advances in medical science and excellent care and treatment provided by the NHS mean life expectancy is going up'.

Bosch Healthcare will be located on the first floor building two. More information can be found on Bosch Telehealth at www.bosch-telehealth.co.uk
