

Bosch Shortlisted for Energy Efficient Product of the Year Category

Bosch Rexroth has entered The Energy Awards (www.theenergyawards.com), a new awards event starting this year. With 13 categories, the Energy Awards is the only event that recognises achievement in cutting emissions across the entire energy industry. This may be in terms of employee behaviour, building performance or production process.

The product entered was the Variable Speed Pump Drive called Sytronix which was submitted under the 'Energy Efficient Product of the Year' category. The Sytronix can save up to 70% of energy, meaning a reduction in energy costs, noise and also hydraulic power loss. Although the number of entrants was overwhelming, recent news reveals Bosch has been shortlisted for the award.

The winners are to be announced at the awards ceremony on 1st December at the Grange St Paul's Hotel, London.
