

BOSCH

Worcester Bosch partnership with Woodland Trust

For every customer who purchases a Worcester Bosch boiler and registers their guarantee on line, £5 will be donated to the Woodland Trust to plant a tree by Worcester.

The partnership with the Woodland Trust started in 2007 and so far almost 5,000 trees have been planted.

Customers with a new Worcester product are encouraged to register it on the Worcester website: <http://www.worcester-bosch.co.uk/homeowner>

The Woodland Trust is the UK's leading woodland conservation charity. They have been working for nearly 40 years across the country to create, protect and inspire people to appreciate the UK's woodlands.

Worcester is committed to helping protect the environment and has many activities including the plant a tree scheme to help. They are proud to state that 'We are committed to ensuring that everything we do is geared towards energy efficiency in the home'.
