How to complete the competency section of the application form

The competency section on the application form provides you with the opportunity to demonstrate that you have the competencies required for the programme.

The form asks you to consider four competencies and provide a specific, relevant example for each one that tells us how you have demonstrated that competency in the past.

If you do not have a work related example, you can include examples from things you have done outside work; for example with voluntary groups, social environments, education or training.

It is important that you are specific when writing about what you have done. Please do not describe what you have done in general terms. Choose a specific event, project, task or achievement.

In each example you need to clearly describe what your personal contribution was. You should avoid using “we” and describe what you did.

This section provides you with an opportunity to tell us about how you have demonstrated the competencies required for this programme.

You are advised to refer to the guidance notes before completing this section of the form.

In a business-to-business environment your main customer contact constantly ignores your communications and tries to resolve his or her topics with your manager directly. How do you deal with this situation?

(200 words maximum)

Give hypothetical example if you have not experienced the situation.

Describe an example of when a project or activity did not go according to plan or failed. How did you manage the consequences and deal with the situation? What would you do differently if you could do it again, knowing what you know today?

(400 word maximum)

Provide an example from either university or your placement year when you identified and completed a project independently. How did you go about structuring your work and set your priorities to achieve your goal?

(200 word maximum)

Provide an example of how:

- you utilised a personal strength and how it benefited you.
- you identified a personal area of development and what you did to improve it.

(350 words maximum for both bullet points)

Please select the business unit that appeal to you the most (please select as many as you like but indicate a preference)
